

Call for applications for the Course on Fundamentals on Defence Rights before International Courts, 15 – 19 May 2017.

Dear Madam / Sir,

The Siracusa International Institute for Criminal Justice and Human Rights has launched the Siracusa Institute's International Defence Counsel Training Programme (the Programme). It is the first multifaceted and globally-oriented Programme specifically designed for defence lawyers, in-house counsel and jurists dealing with cases related to the prosecution of international crimes in national and international jurisdictions, including crimes of a transnational nature. The Programme includes various modules of training in relevant jurisprudence of international courts, procedural elements of international proceedings, and the substantive and procedural aspects of international legal cooperation in cases related to international and transnational crimes.

The Siracusa Institute is honoured to work in this Programme with the Association Internationale des Avocats (UIA), the Association Internationale de Droit Pénal (AIDP), the International Criminal Justice Consortium (ICJC), the Italian Scuola Superiore dell'Avvocatura (SSA), and the Centre d'Etudes sur la Sécurité Internationale et le Coopération Européennes (CESICE). To ensure the maximum benefit for all participants, the Institute is ready to engage with relevant bar associations and law societies for the accreditation of its Courses within respective continuing legal education programs (CLE). Some accreditations have been already granted and others are in the course of being granted.

The Programme has an outstanding Academia of world-renowned practitioners and jurists, whose expertise and prestige ensures that this Programme is of the highest standards. We are grateful to have members of the Academia as patrons, as well as lecturers and academic advisers.
